

SENATE VOTES $250,000 FOR EXTENSION OF PARK SYSTEM

Accusations by Senator Nelson of Minnesota that people here "are always trying to work the Government" to promote projects for Washington, did not deter the Senate in its determination to restore to the sundry civil bill a House appropriation of $250,000 to extend the park system of the National Capital by joining Rock Creek and Potomac Park.

Senator Lodge and Senator Sheppard rallied to the defense of the parkway project when it appeared that Mr. Nelson's appeal to the Senate not to permit Washington realty dealers to "put one over" on Congress would have a disastrous effect.

Debate lasted an hour. Debate centered on the project for more than an hour, during which the United States Housing Corporation came in for a good deal of criticism. Senator Nelson, who condemned the Plaza Hotel project as having cost the Government millions of dollars.

Senator Lodge strongly urged the acquisition of land to link together the two parkway systems, declaring it "would be the greatest benefit to the city and to the people of the city that has ever been proposed." Senator Sheppard, who is a member of the District Committee, protested that while Congress forever preaches about making Washington the most beautiful city in the world, whenever some definite plan for its beautification comes up there are always Senators who claim that the District is trying to defraud the Government.

Fifty-five per cent of the land in the District already consists of parks, Senator Gronna of North Dakota, reminded the Senate.

Should Be More, Says Sheppard. "I think that is a most praiseworthy feature of the Capital City," replied Senator Sheppard. "That percentage of land here and perhaps more should consist of parks and playgrounds for the American people."

Senator Lodge said he was entirely familiar with all the objections raised against the proposed parkway and heartily approved of the plan. "It will rescue the lower part of Rock Creek from the condition it is now in," said Senator Lodge. The completion of this park will make access possible and will be a great improvement to that part of Georgetown and Washington.

A long list of "warnings" was put into the Record by Senator Nelson in his fight against the project, drawing attention to instances in the past when Congress had been misled by District people.

"We hear much about beautifying Washington," said Senator Nelson, "and much about making it a model city. But the people of Washington, who are so anxious to have this city beautified and enlarged, are also always looking to immunity from taxation. They are anxious to work the Government to the limit."

The Senate adopted a number of amendments to the sundry civil bill affecting District needs. An amendment appropriating $10,000 additional for the extension of the bathhouse at the Tidal Basin bathing beach, making a total of $20,000, was approved without discussion. Another amendment added $25,000 for increased cost in park maintenance, making a total of $50,000.

Teachers' Pay Raised Elsewhere in U. S. But Stands Still in Capital

That salaries of teachers in many States are being increased in the interest of high standards of education, as the cost of living increases, while the salaries of Washington school teachers remain practically at a standstill, is shown by a report issued by the National Educational Association of Washington today. "Economic laws apply to teachers the same as to others," says Hugh S. McGill, field secretary of the association, in issuing the report. "Low salaries for teachers mean low standards. We are particular about the physicians and dentists who treat our children, but seem somewhat careless about their teachers. Is the mind of the child less important than his body?"

Twelve States Raise Pay. "Every State has become actively interested in the problem of teachers' salaries, and twelve have reported the passage of laws materially increasing salaries," states the report. "Virginia has increased its appropriation for teachers' salaries by $800,000, and the State Superintendent Harris Hart expresses the hope that the next legislature will make a further increase of at least 25 per cent.

"Illinois has made $75 the minimum monthly salary of any public school teacher, has increased her annual State appropriation for school purposes from $4,000,000 to $6,000,000, and has authorized school districts on vote of the people to double the tax for educational purposes. "In New York city, with its more than 21,000 teachers, the minimum salary for teachers in kindergartens and the first six grades is $1,000 and the maximum salary $2,160. In grades seven, eight and nine the minimum is $1,350 and the maximum $2,700. For high school teachers the salaries range from $1,550 to $3,150 for assistants and up to $3,650 for heads of departments.

Problem Not Solved. "Noteworthy progress has been made in many cities, and what has been accomplished is gratifying, but the problem is not solved. Increases of from 10 per cent to 20 per cent, or even much more, are not sufficient to meet the very much greater increases in the cost of living, cost of professional training, and the other expenses necessary to a teacher. "While some places have made very satisfactory progress, conditions in many places of the country remain most deplorable. It is still legally possible for a teacher to receive the disgraceful salary of $40 per month—and that only for six months—an annual salary of $240, or 66 cents a day. "In one State the average monthly salary paid colored female teachers in the elementary schools during 1918 was only $26.12, or a total of $313.72 for a year of six months. This represents an average wage for these teachers, many of whom are graduates of colored normal schools, of less than one-half of what they could earn without training, doing washing or general housework in many of the large cities.

Raises Under Pressure. "In a great many cases increases were granted under pressure, and not as a result of an intelligent appreciation of the important issues involved. This fact is obvious when it is noted that salaries were increased in many instances only $18 or $20 for the year—increases of 3 per cent to 5 per cent—when the cost of living has increased nearly 100 per cent. "Of 191 cities reporting definite increases for elementary teachers during 1918-19, 86 per cent of them gave increases of $50 or less. How inadequate is an adjustment of $50, when during the year the cost of a teacher's room has probably increased more than that amount, to say nothing of board, clothes, and other expenses.

Salaries Compared. "A comparison with the teacher's average salary of $250 shows that hod carriers earn from one and one-half to twice as much; the head bakers, carpenters, glaziers, blacksmiths, and machinists earn about two and one-half times as much; bricklayers, plumbers, and structural iron workers earn about three times as much. These comparisons are all with kinds of work requiring much less preparation than teaching, which, it is conceded, should require at least six years of study and professional preparation beyond the eighth grade. "It is a public disgrace that in this, the richest country of the world, men and women who are devoting their lives to the promotion of public welfare should have to beg for a living wage or be forced to leave their profession. In the end, however, the results are far more disastrous to the public than the teacher."

2 TRAFFIC DEATHS DUE TO ACCIDENT

Two verdicts of accidental death were returned yesterday by a coroner's jury investigating the deaths of Bernhard Guntow, of Fort Myer Heights, Va., and Edna Clark, colored, five years old, both of whom were killed in traffic accidents. Guntow was riding a motorcycle on M street near Twenty-eighth street, it was testified, when his machine crashed into an automobile truck operated by Walter Michie. He died a short time later at Emergency Hospital. Witnesses to the accident in which the little colored girl lost her life testified that the child was playing in the middle of the street and ran into the side of the truck operated by George Hallback, colored.

The drivers of both vehicles were released following the jury's verdicts.

SHIP BOARD JOBS BEGGING. The United States Shipping Board wants to obtain the services of marine engineers for six grades, an announcement by the board said today. The job pays from $143.75 per month, with board and quarters free, for third assistants, to $287.50 a month for chiefs. The Shipping Board declares that the jobs are actually going begging at these figures at Atlantic ports.

LONDON TIMES FOR IRISH HOME RULE

LONDON, June 28.—The Times came out today in advocacy of Irish self-government. In a series of articles advocating the settlement of "peace with Ireland," it says that the prime minister must at once be worried into action looking to this end. "Ireland shall be her own mistress," declares the article. "We believe in the possibility of joining a Irish welfare under a generous system of Irish self-government."

WOMAN CHARGED WITH STEALING AUTOMOBILE

Charged with grand larceny, Mrs. Lillian Halley Joyce, of 1022 New Hampshire avenue northwest, today is being held at the House of Detention. It is charged that Mrs. Joyce stole an automobile belonging to P. S. Barnstedt, of 221 John Marshall place, at Thirteenth and F streets northwest three months ago. With her four-year-old daughter as her sole companion, Mrs. Joyce is alleged to have made a tour through the New England States with the stolen car.

PLAN NEW SOLUTION OF IRISH PROBLEM

LONDON, June 28.—Establishment of self-government in Ireland within the British Empire is proposed in a manifesto issued by the "Irish Dominion League" introduced by Horace Plunkett and other Irishmen.

The proposal, it is claimed, is a great advance over any previous proposed solution for the Irish question, except that the British connection is maintained.

Under this plan Ireland would have virtually the same amount of home rule as though she were an independent republic. The manifesto points out the disadvantages to which Irish products would be exposed if Ireland was a republic severed from the British Empire. Mention is made of possible hostile tariffs.

Irishmen are urged to unite and let the British parliament and people know what they desire. The manifesto then outlines what the political status of Ireland would be under the new scheme. Would Be League Member. Ireland, it is declared, would not be represented at Westminster, but would be a member of the League of Nations and of the imperial conference, council or parliament which may be established. Ireland would have complete control of her internal government. The naval and military defense would remain the same as at present, but no authority but the Irish parliament would have power to impose compulsory service on Irishmen, although Ireland would agree to make contributions to the naval, military, and diplomatic services.

In referring to Ulster, the manifesto says that with Ireland under the status of a dominion, the rights of minorities would be constitutionally recognized in many ways. The Ulsterites are asked to state what special safeguards they demand, the manifesto adding: "But if our appeal meets with no response, the Irish Dominion League would be prepared to show that the status of a dominion, the rights of minorities would be constitutionally recognized in many ways.
